Website Assumptions and Decisions

- Assuming the users web browser supports the use of a button to submit forms (buttons allow for more css styling, and overall serves the purpose of “submitting” something)
- Assumes mobile devices will not have a width smaller than 325px (my pictures are not smaller than 325px)
- About section contains lorem ipsum content, it would have information about the restaurant/owner/chef possibly
- Both the contact and reservation sections contain pictures to meet the minimum requirement of 500px height (not shown in wireframe because I forgot everything had to be 500px)
- Only included “appetizers”, “mains” and “dessert” in the menu because its a fictional restaurant, options are limited
- Assuming that the users browser supports the “date” and “time” input type
